

Summary - Abstract

The invented method for improvement of the production of adenovirus-based vectors is characterized by gene transfer and overexpression of the cell cycle regulator p21<sup>WAF1/CIP1</sup> in a production cell line.